To-Do Checklist

Reading

☐ This week’s reading focuses on how peers’ acceptance or rejection during social interactions facilitates or interferes with a child’s psychosocial development. You will read about Erikson’s psychosocial theory.

Research Activity

☐ You will complete a short research activity to aid your response to the discussion questions on the discussion board.

Discussion

☐ During our discussions this week, we will explore how children’s disruptive and aggressive behaviors can interfere with healthy social development. Also, we will explore some strategies that can be used to train children’s social skills to facilitate the formation of healthier relationships.

Seminar

☐ In this week’s seminar, we will discuss the reasons for children being accepted or rejected by their peers and how this can affect their social skill development.

Team project

☐ This week, you will be assigned to a team by your professor, meet with your team, and plan and complete your first group project.
