To-Do Checklist

Reading

☐ This week we will discuss how children’s sense of self develops as a result of interactions with others. We will explore how children first identify with their families, then with peers and peer groups, and finally to self as an independent being.

Research Activity

☐ You will be challenged to explore how self-concept relates to confidence in social interactions.

Discussion

☐ This week in the team discussion thread, you will discuss the questions posed by other teams in their case studies. We will also discuss how children develop their sense of self through social interactions with parents, peers, and then with friends.

Seminar

☐ In this week’s seminar, we will discuss how family and school problems (i.e. divorce or poor academic achievement) can interfere with the healthy development of self-concept.

Team Project Discussion

☐ This week, you will work to answer the questions of two case studies created by other teams.

Team Project

☐ Your team responses will be submitted to the dropbox and graded as your team project.
